Dear Sirs:-

I return the proof of the cover of the catalogue. As I want this to conform as nearly as possible to our former catalogues, one of which I left with you, I have cut out the double line around the title, I have ~~and~~ also changed the date from the ninth to the thirtieth to the eleventh to the thirty first.

As I requested you yesterday morning I would be glad if you would send me three proofs in each case.

Very truly yours,

Director.

Dear Sir:-

We send herewith four sets of page proofs of your booklet, one of which we have pasted in a manila dummy for tentative arrangement of pages. You will note that in the front of the book we have put a cut on the reverse of the title page and also of the article page, as we do not think it at all advisable to have these two pages blank, with another blank page following each, (that is we do not like this arrangement) preferring as pasted

As pasted it makes 16 pages, which will be cheaper than 20, as you know, but any differnce of arrangement that you wish we will be glad to make. You will also note that proofs are pulled on 6 x 9 size paper, to show margins in a general way on that size. Awaiting your return, we remain

THE AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

156th STREET, WEST OF BROADWAY

NEW YORK

BULLETIN No. 5

At the regular meeting held December 16, 1912.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF NUMISMATICS

It has been decided that, in future, the Society, through its Publication Committee, issue the American Journal of Numismatics and Transactions of The American Numismatic Society in a single volume at the end of each year.

The next quarterly number, which will be out very shortly, will be the last to be issued in this form. The subscription price will be unchanged.

PUBLICATIONS

It is also proposed to issue at intervals monographs on subjects of numismatic interest, which will be distributed to the members of the Society.

The Society has issued a large volume describing and illustrating a series of medals, on the important events of the reign of Napoleon. These medals were never issued, though the designs were all prepared. This book is by Ernest Babelon, who discovered the records and designs. It will shortly be offered for subscription to the members of the Society.

FUND FOR COLLECTIONS

The Council will again bring to the attention of the members the generous offer of Mr. Samuel P. Avery to be one of four donors of $2500 each to a fund of $10,000, the interest of which is to be used for the increase of the Society's numismatic collections. Mr. J. Sanford Saltus and Mr. Archer M. Huntington have agreed to become donors to this fund, and as the offer is only open until the end of the current year, a fourth donor must be found very soon if this most important and much needed fund is not to be lost to the Society.

DEATHS

The Society has lost by death the following members:—

October 27, Monsieur Frederic Vernon, Corresponding Member, Elected December 17, 1910.
December 8, Gen. Gates P. Thruston, Corresponding Member, Elected May 20, 1879.
December 10, John T. Atterbury, Life Member, Elected January 20, 1902.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR

ACCESSIONS TO THE COLLECTIONS

The accessions to the Society's collections since the November meeting consist of seventeen plaques by Miss Janet Scudder and two medals from Mr. Archer M. Huntington, six British coins of this year, the gold medal given by the Foreign Office for gallantry and humanity, the British naval gunnery medal of George V, and ten other medals from Mr. J. Sanford Saltus, from His Emminence, Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, a medal commemorating the first anniversary of his elevation to the Cardinalate, and a galvano plaque entitled the "Adoration of the Virgin" by Giovanni Cariati from Mr. Edward D. Adams.

ACCESSIONS TO THE LIBRARY

The accessions to the library consist of one book, two pamphlets, eleven catalogues and sixteen periodicals.

THIS very sumptuous Collection comprising two hundred unpublished Napoleonic medals is in reality the Medallic History of the Emperor, prepared by the Department of Ancient History and Literature of the French Institute (la Classe d'Histoire et de Littérature ancienne). The drawings for these medals were done by two members of the Institute under the First Empire:—Chaudet, the great sculptor of the statue that once topped the Vendôme Column, and Baron Lemot, the author of many still famous works of sculpture.

The Department of Ancient History and Literature of the Institute, which to-day bears the name of l'Académie des Inscriptions et Belles-Lettres, had undertaken to compose a history of Napoleon in medals, as the old Academy had done for Louis XIV. The committee to which it entrusted the work, subject to its own personal supervision, of preparing these medals by drawing and by engraving on metal, set to work in 1806, and labored unremittingly until 18 February 1814, that is, up to the morrow of the glorious battles of Champaubert Montmirail, and Château-Thierry, in which the Emperor supported by a handful of heroes struggled alone against all Europe in coalition.

At that time the Medallic History, consisting so far in the preliminary drawings and their letter press, had been brought down only to 1910, that is, to the medals of Napoleon's marriage to Marie-Louise, and to the reunion of Holland to the French Empire. That, accordingly, is the point at which the present Collection stops, for it was never completed. The two hundred medals thus prepared by the Institute did not reach the stage of being engraved in metal. That is the reason why they are unpublished, and they must therefore not be confounded with the several thousand Napoleonic medals struck at the Paris Mint and elsewhere, or simply invented by private individuals, with none of which had the French Institute anything to do.

Nevertheless, our collection of designs for the medals destined for the official history of the Empire, make a volume such as would have been produced, had time and events suffered the Academy to finish its enterprise and carry it to the point of engraving in metal. These drawings by Chaudet and Lemot, which were executed with the engraving of the dies in view, and were accompanied with the explanatory text furnished by the Academy's Committee, whose chairman was Baron Dacier, have in the present work the additional advantage of a commentary by Monsieur E. Babelon, which in large part is derived from the archives of the Institute. A historical introduction of sixty folio pages relates the history of the Académie des Inscriptions under the First Empire and the part taken by it not only in the preparation of the Medallic

To printer - Is not this hyphen too high?

History, but in inditing the lapidary inscriptions intended for public monuments, such as the two Trimphal Arches of the Étoile and the Carrousel.

This admirable and impressive series of designs for medals contemporary with the events commemorated by them, and destined to be engraved in metal and then struck, present Napoleon in the light in which he appeared to the men of his time, as soldier, lawgiver, executive. The Academy's Committee begin their medallic history with the Return from Egypt and the 18th Brumaire. The first medal, which was designed by Lemot, shows a bust of the Emperor, facing, in antique garb, surrounded by rays of the sun, with the legend, ORIENS, "The rising sun"; the reverse shows Bonaparte landing at Fréjus, which type is surrounded by the inscription, Expectate, veni. Then come the medals that relate to the great creations of the Consular period, which form to this day the base of our present system of government, for the work of Napoleon, which modernized the world, still lives; Creation of the Senate, of the Chamber of Deputies (le Corps législatif), the Council of State, the Prefectures, the Bank, the Cour des Comptes, the Bourse, the Commercial Court, the Monetary System, System of Weights and Measures; the Recall of the Émigrés (civibus patriae redditis), the Concordat, the Civil Code, the Real Estate Survey (le cadastre), the Administration of Forests, the Establishment of Colleges (lycées), the founding of the University, the creation of the Louvre Museum, the location of Cemeteries outside of Cities. Our eyes, charmed and dazed, become the witness day by day of the prodigious activity of this extraordinary man, displayed on the medals destined to commemorate the creation of our system of highways and canals, the enlargement of our ports (Antwerp, Cherbourg, Dieppe, etc.), the beautifying of Paris, the building of four new bridges and of great streets like the Rue de Rivoli, the erection of the two Triumphal Arches, the construction of the Abattoirs, public markets and sewers. We will further cite the medals that recall the measures taken by the Emperor for the drainage of the marshes in the West, the planting of sea-pines on the coast of Gascony, etc. As to his military activity, that is too familiar to the minds of all to make it necessary for us to adduce the medals commemorating the victories of the French eagles, the entries into the various capitals of Europe, the treaties imposed on defeated enemies, the creation of Kingdoms such as those of Italy, Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Saxony, Westphalia, the creation of the Confederation of the Rhine, the reorganization of the Swiss Cantons. The very legends on these medals are suggestive. When the subject is the treaties of peace concluded with such countries as England or Russia, we read these words encircling the type, Pax cum Anglis, or cum Roxolanis sancita; when the German Empire or Prussia are in question, Pax Germanis data, Pax Borussis data. The medal of the erection of the temple of glory (Église de la Madeleine) bears the inscription, Gloriae exercituum. After the taking of Berlin, Napoleon receives delegates from the German universities and reassures them as to their fate, whence the medal, Non bella cum artibus. When the Vistula has been crossed by the Emperor, the Academy, like all Europe, carried away by enthusiasm and admiration, produces a medal with this legend, Quo non Carolus magnus, "farther than Charlemagne."

These few examples chosen at random suffice to make clear the absorbing interest and historical importance of this new and unpublished collection which we now offer to the public. We will say nothing of the artistic aspect, the illustrious names of Chaudet and Lemot being a sufficient recommendation in the eyes of all cultivated persons who are friends of art.

A folio volume of LX, 430 pages printed in three tones: a special border for every page printed in grey, the medals printed in bistre, the text in black, garnished by numerous tail pieces.

Dear Sirs:-

I return herewith the proof of the amendments to the By-Laws. You will, no doubt, remember that when I gave you the copy for these amendments I left with you a copy of the Society's Constitution and By-Laws, and directed that these amendments should conform to the Society's Constitution in paper, printing and size, so that the sheet could be inserted in the back of each copy that we have.

I find on comparing the proof with the printed Constitution that the lines are three quarters of an inch longer, which would make a much narrower margin on the printed sheet. Will you kindly have the lines made the same length as the printed Constitution, and let us have another proof not later than Saturday as I expect to go away for a week or two on Monday morning.

Members of all classes shall be entitled, upon qualifying, to receive a membership certificate signed by a majority of the Governors and bearing the seal of the Society, attested by the Secretary; they shall also be entitled to the bronze medal of the Society upon the payment of four dollars, or to its silver medal upon payment of eight dollars, or to its badge upon payment of such sum as may be fixed from time to time by the Society.

The following new chapter added:

CHAPTER V

SALE OR EXCHANGE

Duplicate coins, medals and books, or material not related to the objects of the Society, received as donations and not specifically restricted by the wording of the gift, may be sold or exchange at the discretion of the Council. Such duplicates or material shall be exhibited at a regular meeting of the Society, to which the attention of members shall be called.

Chapters V, VI, VII and VIII changed to Chapters VI, VII, VIII and IX respectively.

Adopted January 18, 1913

Dear Sirs:-

We are still holding the proof of the [illegible] circular as we cannot tell just yet whether the date will remain the same or not.

Mr. Waterbury sailed for Europe on ~~Saturday~~ Thursday, and as I am going away for a couple of weeks on Monday, I have placed the proof in the hands of Mr. Edward D. Adams, 71 Broadway, one of the members of the Committee, and as soon as this is settled, you will receive it either from Mr. Adams or from Mr. Rowland Wood, the Curator of this Society, who will be in charge while I am away.

Very truly yours,

Director.

BROADWAY, AT 156TH STREET
NEW YORK

The American Numismatic Society maintains in its building, which is open to the public every day, a permanent exhibition of medals, plaques and small reliefs, intended to illustrate contemporary medallic art, both American and foreign, and it is desirable to have all of the American artists, who have produced work of this character, represented in this exhibition. The collection exhibited is, with very few exceptions, the property of the Society, loans of important pieces and large plaques or medallions are occasionally accepted.

The Society also publishes annually in the American Journal of Numismatics a review of the medallic productions in this country during the year, with illustrations of a considerable number of medals and plaques, selected for their artistic excellence or importance. The illustrations are made direct from the pieces when possible, otherwise photographs can be used. In any case it is most important to have full descriptions containing, in addition to what may appear on the pieces, their exact size, metal, whether struck or cast, name of artist and manufacturer, and such other facts as will make a complete record.

Material is now being collected for the review of the current year, which will be published early next year.

The Society also desires to preserve in its archives a complete record of the medallic work of each American sculptor, and for that purpose requests lists of medals and plaques made in the past, together with any facts of interest regarding them.

Any co-operation and help will be greatly appreciated.

Communications should be addressed to the Secretary at the above address.

PARVA NE PEREANT

THE AMERICAN NVMISMATIC SOCIETY

BROADWAY, AT 156TH STREET
NEW YORK

For the purpose of preserving and making accessible the history of medals issued in or relating to this country, The American Numismatic is desirous of obtaining for its records information concerning such medals as may be issued, from time to time, commemorating important events or persons, or for other purposes, and with that object in view would request those concerned in the issue of medals, or having any knowledge of such medals to communicate to the Secretary, at the above address, all the information possible.

The information desired consists of a full description of the design of each side of the medal, the exact size, whether it is struck or cast, the metal, or metals, ~~of which it is composed~~ in which it is issued, by whom designed, by whom made, when, where, and for what purpose issued and any other facts necessary for a complete record.

The preservation of such medals where they will be properly classified, arranged, and made accessible to those who are interested in these matters is also most important.

The Society's collection of American Medals is very extensive, and may be consulted at any time, its building is open to the public daily, and it invites donations of American Medals, believing that in no other place will they serve so good a purpose.

The American Numismatic Society issues no catalogue nor price lists, and does not buy or sell coins. Applications should be made to any reputable dealer.

The Society was founded in 1858, and has a large collection of coins and medals, which has been acquired by donations.

All gifts of coins and medals will be officially acknowledged.

Inquiries as to the attribution of coins and medals should be accompanied by rubbings or full descriptions; the metal of which they are composed should be stated and an addressed and stamped envelope enclosed for reply.

October 5th, 1914.

Messrs. Unz & Company,

May we take the liberty of calling your attention to the growing custom of sending a dignified business Christmas greeting card, to customers and business friends.

Many of our customers use these cards as a means of showing their appreciation of past favors, and to strengthen existing relations, and we would be very pleased to show you our samples, of which we have a large line for selection.

Trusting that you will consider this an appropriate method of expressing the sentiments of the holiday season, we remain,

The American Numismatic Society has just published a monograph by Miss Agnes Baldwin, entitled

THE ELECTRUM COINAGE OF LAMPSAKOS

34 Pages. 2 Photogravure Plates. 4to. Price $1.00

This study is a survey of all of the known varieties of the electrum staters of Lampsakos contained in the principal European, public and private collections, as well as in those of New York and Boston. A number of extremely rare, or unique, staters are here figured for the first time. The regular electrum issues of Lampsakos are arranged in chronological sequence, and the staters, whose attribution to Lampsakos is viewed as uncertain in the British Museum Catalogues, Mysia and Ionia, are here discussed in the light of Gardner's theory regarding the Coinage of the Ionian Revolt.

Dear Sirs:-

The black cards that you sent up yesterday afternoon do not match the sample, as you will see by the two cards enclosed. The old card has a dull finish, which is entirely different from the cards sent up, and when I ordered these cards I spoke especially about having cards with a dull finish as the bright finished cards would not look at all well in our cases, and, therefore, can not be used. I have, therefore, wrapped up the cards, and the next time one of your messengers is here, he can get them, and in the meantime I would be glad ifyou would fill the order with dull finished cards according to the samples.

To the Members of The American Numismatic Society:-

Your Committee on Membership has given much thought toward inaugurating a strenuous campaign to very largely augment our list of Associate Members. The number of Associate Members is far below what it should be, when the wonderful building and organization of the Society is considered. The Society desires to promote interest in the science of Numismatics in every way possible. We wish to bring all those who are in any way interested to see what the Society has, and we wish to show them the advantages of the institution, with its great collection of coins, medals, decorations and paper money, and its fine library for study and research. We assure our friends that they will be most welcome.

We own our building and the permanency of the Society is assured, but we desire more members, to broaden its scope and make its influence more widely felt. The Associate Members enjoy all of the privileges of the use of the Society's building. They have access to the Society's collections and library and they receive without cost the American Journal of Numismatics and such other publications as are issued free to members. They may also subscribe for any of the medals issued by the Society.

You are a member of our Society and we ask you to join with us and all our Active Members, in each securing at least two new members to add to our Associate Membership Roll. The dues are only Five Dollars a year.

We earnestly ask you to use your utmost endeavors to present for Associate Membership at least two names before April 1st, 1915. Enclosed please find nomination blanks for Associate Members.

Dear Sirs:-

Kindly print for me eight hundred and fifty (850) cards as per the enclosed sample. I would like to see a proof of this on Wednesday,

I would also like to have you send me up the following:-

3 Jars, 5 oz. Sanford's Library Paste.

1 Qt. Carter's Jet Black Ink.

1 Box Spencerian Pens, No. 1.

1 Dozen "Ideal" Paper Clamps, No. 1.

500 Sheets, Legal Paper, as per sample.

1000 Sheets, Yellow Paper, as per sample.

1000 Sheets, Letter Paper, " " "

500 Sheets of paper, 10 x 16 inches, of the same kind of paper as the small sample enclosed.

Very truly yours,

March 1st, 1916.

Messrs. Unz & Company,

24 Broadway,

New York.

Dear Sirs:-

I notice in the enclosed bill an item of $4.25 for one half ream of Manila Wrapping Paper. This was ordered on December 31st by the following letter:-

"Kindly send up, as soon as possible, one half (½) ream of Brown Wrapping Paper, the same as the last you sent us, and greatly oblige,"

I find that on your bill of April 30th, five quires of Manila Paper $1.25, which appears to be the last wrapping paper that we ordered from you. This would be $2.50 for one half ream. Kindly advise me why this difference in price, and oblige,

Yours very truly,

Secretary.

BAUMAN L. BELDEN,

SECRETARY.

March 9th, 1916.

Messrs. Unz & Company,

24 Broadway,

New York.

Dear Sirs:-

Please send me four hundred (400) cards as per the enclosed copy, and be sure that the cards are no larger than the sample. The last that you sent up were slightly larger, and we had a lot of trouble getting them in the envelopes.

It seems to me that it is hardly necessary to send a proof of this, as I want to get the cards off Saturday afternoon.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

May 28th, 1917.

Messrs. Unz & Co.,
24 Broadway,
New York.

Dear Sirs:-

Kindly send us, at your earliest convenience, five hundred (500) manila envelopes as per the enclosed sample, the size to be that indicated by the pencil outline.

Yours very truly,

Secretary.

June 5th, 1917.

Messrs. Unz & Company,
24 Broadway,
New York.

Dear Sirs:-

I have just learned of your telephone report - that we can not expect delivery of the envelopes ordered from you on May 28th before Wednesday or Thursday of this week. May I say that this is a kind of treatment we do not appreciate. Had your assistant informed us, as he should have done, when we first telephone you last Friday, that we should have to wait until now for these envelopes, the order would have been promptly rescinded. As it is, I must beg you to consider that such treatment as we have received is not conducive to the continuance of cordial relations. Will you see that delivery is made not later than the time specified!

Yours truly,

Secretary.

December 26th, 1917.

Messrs. Unz & Company,
24 Broadway,
New York.

Dear Sirs:-

Kindly give to bearer samples of Receipt for Package Book, and quote prices on same.
